Justice N K Mehrotra who took over as the sixth Lokayukta of Uttar Pradesh on March 16, 2006 distinguished himself as the person having produced the most effective Lokayukta reports in shortest duration. During his tenure he investigated into corruption charges made against as many as 11 ministers in the State government and submitted his reports to the chief minister of the time, which resulted in the removal of 10 ministers within a span of just 2½ years, from December 2010 to May 2013.
